Prepare to be wowed by the technical, aesthetic and structural innovations on display in New Directions: A Juried Exhibition of Contemporary Textiles, opening to the public Sept. 14 at the Craft & Folk Art Museum on Museum Row. In this exhibition organized by the Textile Society of America, 19 established and emerging artists offer their unique takes on the field of fiber. The group includes L.A.-based Guillermo Bert, who creates QR-coded textiles, and Peggy Osterkamp, whose ethereal hand-woven silk piece Four Veils is pictured left. A full slate of on-site educational programs and hands-on workshops supplements the cross-disciplinary exhibition. 5814 Wilshire Blvd., L.A., 323.937.4230, cafam.org
